

South
Africa
Netherlands Research
Programme on Alternatives in Development

NEWSLETTER

Issue 1:2005

Christmas greetings to all the devoted SANPAD researchers!

After a successful research year, we can all sit back and relax for a while. The first issue of our newsletter will not be "research-loaded", but filled with blissful faces.

Above: All the innocent SANPAD faces

UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

South
Africa
Netherlands Research
Programme on Alternatives in Development

NEWSLETTER

Below you'll find some of the pics taken during the workshop that took place at the beginning of November.

Rene relaxing after sharing her Hillbrow traffic ordeal...

Guess who are married for more than 25 years (PS check the colour-coding...)

Janet enraptured in her thesis-topic.

Verna sharing her thesis progress.

UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

South
Africa
Netherlands Research
Programme on Alternatives in Development

NEWSLETTER

Proud Edgar and his stupendous PowerPoint presentation.

Girl power at its best – I can still smell the fresh aroma of women working and thinking! (Splendid aroma.)

UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

South
Africa
Netherlands Research
Programme on Alternatives in Development

NEWSLETTER

OUR LADIES DRESSED IN PINK... Were there perhaps a pink party going on without me knowing????

Juliana in action... Note the mammoth progression that takes place... or is she keeping all of us awake?

Another pink lady attentively listening to her audience – desired of those who preach dialogue!!!

UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

South
Africa
Netherlands Research
Programme on Alternatives in Development

NEWSLETTER

I can type.....

Our dear Rosalie... quite difficult to capture on camera...

Last but not least, Professor Roux and myself would like to congratulate those who recently completed their theses and who will be receiving their degrees soon. A special thanks to all the researchers for their hard work during the year – it is highly appreciated. Good luck with those busy preparing their proposals for January!

Merry
Christmas

UNIVERSITY OF
KWAZULU-NATAL

